Following this the discussion was passed to Matt Abraham, Supply Chain & HSE Director for OGUK to give an update on the supply chain principles and the outlook of OGUK at the current time in terms of export potential and output.

This led into a question and answer session which covered areas such as health and safety, the energy transition, carbon capture and storage, the climate change impact and the work of the supply chain in generating export capacity.

After a lively discussion Lewis thanked the attendees and brought the meeting to a close.
