01	Opening Remarks (Alexander Burnett MSP)
02	COVID-19 and industry response Q&A (Trevor Stapleton, Health and Safety Director OGUK) <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Advice has been developed for industry in conjunction with operators, unions, police and aviation authorities – covering travel on shore, heliport procedures, flight procedures and offshore procedures.• With procedures finalised, industry's focus has become securing an exemption from quarantine as essential workers and asymptomatic testing.• Questions were asked by members on the following:<ul style="list-style-type: none">○ How testing undertaken by companies feed into national figures. – TS advised that privately conducted tests do not link in with official figures and this was being looked into by the Testing Sub Group of OGUKs Pandemic Steering Group.○ Delivering asymptomatic testing and utilising spare capacity. – TS advised that OGUK continued to raise asymptomatic testing for workforce with both UK and Scottish Governments, particularly around utilising unused capacity at the Dyce testing centre.○ Competing demands for testing. – TS advised that the industry would always step back in favour of front line workers, should there be a spike in demand for testing.

03 COVID-19 and the reduced commodity prices effect on the supply chain Q&A (Matt Abraham, Supply Chain Director OGUK)

- The members were advised of OGUKs three phase recovery plan:

- Questions were asked by members on the following:
 - What thought had been given to young people in the industry. – MA advised that OGUK was encouraging members to retain apprentices and the series of young professionals’ events were being well attended, with significant interest in the industry and transition.
 - How COVID-19 had affected the international supply chain. – MA advised that disruption had largely reflected phases of the diseases spread, with resupply from China having normalised and restarting from Italian forge houses.

04 AOB – none raised
