

SPCB Privacy Notice

This privacy statement explains how we collect and use personal information about you for the following process:

MSPs' Registers of Interests

The categories of information processed

Normal category data, such as names and addresses, can be included in MSPs' Registers of Interests. Sometimes special category data is processed, such as political views and trade union membership, when the MSP has registered membership of particular organisations.

Source of the information

This information is provided by MSPs to the Standards Clerks.

The purpose(s) of the processing

The purpose of the holding of the personal data is to fulfil the statutory obligation of keeping a Register of Interests.

The legal basis of processing

MSPs are required to register certain financial interests in a Register of Interests. This is a legislative requirement set out in the Interests of Members of the Scottish Parliament Act 2006.

Under s 1 of that Act, a Register of Interests must be kept at the Scottish Parliament by the Clerk to the Scottish Parliament. The SPCB is the corporate body that enables the Clerk to fulfil this function.

The legal basis for processing the personal data is therefore that it is necessary for a statutory obligation to which the SPCB is subject in accordance with Art 6(1)(c) GDPR or that it is necessary for the purpose of a substantial public interest in accordance with Art 9(2)(g) GDPR, and s10(3) of and para 6 of Schedule 1 to the DPB (Crown function).

Data sharing

In accordance with section 11 of the Interests of Members of the Scottish Parliament Act 2006 the information is publicly available online on the Scottish Parliament website. The data is not shared with any other third parties. The legal basis for the publication of the personal data contained in the register is the same as outlined above.

Retention of data

Register entries are kept for a ten year period (after amendment or deletion). This is a requirement of section 10 of the Interests of Members of the Scottish Parliament Act 2006. They are then deleted.

Consequences of not processing personal data

If the SPCB was not processing personal data as specified in this privacy notice, the SPCB would be in breach of its statutory obligations.

Your rights

The GDPR sets out the rights which individuals have in relation to personal information held about them by data controllers. These rights are listed below, although whether you will be able to exercise each of these rights in a particular case may depend on the purpose for which the data controller is processing the data and the legal basis upon which the processing takes place.

Access to your information – You have the right to request a copy of the personal information about you that we hold. For further information, see our Data Subjects' Access Requests Policy.

Correcting your information – We want to make sure that your personal information is accurate, complete and up to date and you may ask us to correct any personal information about you that you believe does not meet these standards.

Deletion of your information – You have the right to ask us to delete personal information about you where:

- You consider that we no longer require the information for the purposes for which it was obtained.
- You have validly objected to our use of your personal information – see Objecting to how we may use your information below.
- Our use of your personal information is contrary to law or our other legal obligations.

Objecting to how we may use your information – Where we use your personal information to perform tasks carried out in the public interest then, if you ask us to, we will stop using that personal information unless there are overriding legitimate grounds to continue.

Restricting how we may use your information – In some cases, you may ask us to restrict how we use your personal information. This right might apply, for example, where we are checking the accuracy of personal information about you that we hold or assessing the validity of any objection you have made to our use of your information. The right might also apply where this is no longer a basis for using your personal information but you don't want us to delete the data. Where this right is validly exercised, we may only use the relevant personal information with your consent, for legal claims or where there are other public interest grounds to do so.

Please contact us in any of the ways set out in the Contact information and further advice section if you wish to exercise any of these rights.

Changes to our privacy statement

We keep this privacy statement under regular review and will place any updates on this website. Paper copies of the privacy statement may also be obtained using the contact information below.
