

The Scottish Parliament
Pàrlamaid na h-Alba

There shall be a Scottish Parliament: Members of the Scottish Parliament

If you have a problem or an issue concerning a devolved matter, you can get in touch with one of your eight MSPs.

To help you, an MSP might:

- ask the First Minister or another Scottish Government Minister a question
- speak in a debate
- propose a change in the law
- raise the issue with a committee
- contact an organisation on your behalf
- raise awareness

Of the 129 MSPs elected for Scotland, you have one constituency MSP and seven regional MSPs.

The MSPs are all equal, so you can approach any of your eight MSPs, even if you didn't vote for them.

You can find out which MSPs represent you on the Scottish Parliament website or by asking us.

You can contact an MSP by

- telephone
- email
- social media or
- letter

You can also meet with an MSP face to face at their surgeries. MSPs usually publicise online or in the local press when they are holding surgeries.

It is up to the MSP to decide how to help with your issue and, if you wish, they will keep the matter confidential.

Your MSPs work for YOU.

Find out more at www.parliament.scot or email info@parliament.scot